

The Single Ladybower by Martin Brudnizki

Description Elegant, light and modern, and with classic white marble the Ladybower is another product from the collaboration with interior architect and product designer Martin Brudnizki. Behind its contemporary lines lie functional considerations, including good storage space and details such as the bent recess in the towel rail which ensures that the towel stays in place. Ladybower Reservoir is a large Y-shaped reservoir, the lowest of three in the Upper Derwent Valley in Derbyshire, England.
